Dear all,

We would like to invite you to join us at the 2019 European Learning & Teaching Forum at the University of Warsaw, and also to share this information with relevant stakeholders in your country/ your organisation.

The programme is available on the website.

The Forum provides ample opportunities for discussion and information exchange. It will also present the outcomes of EUA's 2018 thematic peer learning groups on

- * Promoting active learning in universities
- * Evaluation of learning and teaching
- * Continuous development of teaching competences
- * Career paths in teaching

For information on the HEI institutions involved in the groups: <https://eua.eu/downloads/content/eua%20tpgs%202018.pdf>. We will notify you, once the reports are online (tentatively: mid January).

For any further question regarding the Forum, pls. contact my colleagues at LTForum@eua.eu.

I thank you in advance for your interest and your support in disseminating our invitation to this event.

Best regards

Michael Gaebel

Dear colleagues,

We are pleased to invite you to attend the 2019 European Learning & Teaching Forum 'Towards successful learning: Controversies and common ground', which will take place at the University of Warsaw, Poland on 14-15 February 2019.

The 2019 Forum builds on the recognition that there is no one-size-fits-all solution for successful learning and teaching. Following the success of the 1st Forum in 2017, this 2nd edition provides an opportunity for higher education stakeholders to discuss challenges and developments and share and explore practices and lessons learnt related to engaging and empowering students and teachers in developing their learning and teaching.

The event will draw on the work of four thematic peer groups comprised of EUA member universities, which have covered the topics of active learning, developing teaching competences, teachers' career paths and evaluation of learning and teaching. The Forum's breakout sessions provide an opportunity for participants to hear the conclusions of these thematic peer groups, while the plenary sessions invite the audience to further reflect on how to facilitate better learning and teaching in European universities.

We invite you and your colleagues to join this event, which will be of interest to vice-rectors for academic affairs, deans, programme directors, academic staff and researchers. We also welcome the participation of students, policy makers and other higher education stakeholders.

The latest programme, breakout session abstracts and further information about the Forum are available on the event website. For updates follow #EUALearnTeach on Twitter.

To register, please click here. The deadline for the early-bird registration fee is 9 January 2019. After this date, late registration fees will apply.

For further information, please contact the EUA secretariat at LTFForum@eua.eu.
